Britt Greenland Gallery

Britt Greenland is a studio and Plein Air painter. This method of painting allows artists the freedom to paint “en plein air,” which is the French expression for “in the open air.” She specializes in large custom landscape paintings.

Britt has taken workshops from Mitch Albala, Mike Wise, Pam Ingalls, and Jim Lamb, but her first real oil painting lessons were from a neighbor who insisted on being paid in homemade goat cheese.

She is originally from rural Minnesota and moved to the Seattle area in 2001. Capturing and immortalizing the wonder of creation is her passion. She finds these moments anywhere she finds inspiration, from dramatic mountains of the Alps or Cascade ranges, to trails and rivers in the Pacific Northwest. Come see her incredible art for yourself at 301 W North Bend Way, Ste. 107, in North Bend, Washington.

Ride into History

All aboard a living rail museum!

Washington State changed forever when the Northern Pacific Railroad reached Tacoma in 1883.

In a few short years, the rails led nearly everywhere, and the Snoqualmie Valley was no exception. The Northwest Railway Museum tells this story of settlement and development in the Snoqualmie Depot, aboard the train, and on the Museum campus on Stone Quarry Road. Climb aboard for both adventure and enlightenment.

The Northwest Railway Museum has all the bells and whistles!

Incorporating more than five miles of Victorian-era railway and the 1890-built Snoqualmie Depot, the Museum is like no other: antique trains operate weekends from April 'til October and operate to transport visitors not to another place, but to another time. The exhibit galleries are open daily in the summer, and with reduced hours in the spring and fall. Yet no matter when you visit, there are a multitude of "train"ing opportunities!

For more information visit the at Northwest Railway Museum at TrainMuseum.org, or call (425) 888-3030.

Snoqualmie Ice Cream

Snoqualmie Ice Cream is a family-owned company that makes both super-premium organic and all-natural craft ice cream in Snohomish, Washington. Their organic ice creams are French-style frozen custards with extra cream, lots of eggs and very little air, creating a rich and velvety treat.

They use simple ingredients from the Pacific Northwest, including USDA Organic-certified, grass-fed milk and cream, eggs, and berries. They make their ice cream in small batches with more cream and less air to make the most premium ice cream. Everything they make is vat-pasteurized to slow cook the ingredients without scorching the cream and allowing each flavor to have its own unique recipe.

Owners Barry and Shahnaz Bettinger have been perfecting their ice cream since 1997. Stop by their scoop shop, now open in historic downtown Snoqualmie at 8102 Railroad Ave. They are open Mondays through Thursdays from noon to 8 p.m. and Fridays and Saturdays from noon to 9 p.m.

Genre Before Style!

You view the world through your own unique filter comprising your own unique experiences. Volition Brewing Co. views the creation of beer through overlapping genres, in which well-defined and not-so-well-defined styles exist.

They balance the tastes and desires of our community of patrons with our craving for variety and experimentation. Instead of a flagship line and a handful of rotating seasonal beers, they take a different approach.

The genres they focus on are defined by Hops, Fruit, Herb Spice & Botanicals, Mixed Cultures, and Malt.

- Hop-forward beers like IPA, Double IPA, and Pale Ale.
- Fruit beers. Some sour, some not.
- Farmhouse-inspired creations that may be fermented in oak or laced with herbs/spices/botanicals, etc.
- Large selection of approachable beers with low ABV as well as classic styles.

At Volition, you will also find a well-crafted selection of local ciders and Washington wines. They are proud to be a part of over a century of family history in North Bend. Their building was the original site of North Bend's mercantile business "Glazier's Dry Goods Co." owned and operated by Ward Glazier, who first arrived in North Bend in 1908. Drink of your own Volition.

Snoqualmie Tribe Ancestral Lands Movement

It is through education and awareness that individuals can integrate land acknowledgement and respect for the Snoqualmie Tribe into their recreational practices and experiences.

SCAN ME

The Ancestral Lands Movement seeks to spread awareness of the Snoqualmie people who have lived in the southern Salish Sea region since time immemorial and share the significance of these lands and provide information on how people can help the Tribe in respecting, restoring, and protecting these lands.

Mt Si | Twin Falls | Rattlesnake | Issaquah Alps | Tiger Mountain | Franklin Falls | Snoqualmie Falls & More

*I acknowledge that I am on the Indigenous Land of Coast Salish peoples who have reserved treaty rights to this land, specifically the Snoqualmie Indian Tribe (sduk*albix*). I thank these caretakers of this land who have lived and continue to live here since time immemorial.*

Recreational Impacts on Tribal Lands

As the Salish Sea region has grown in population, the Snoqualmie Tribe's ancestral lands have been heavily impacted by recreation. This impact is especially apparent at the popular trails in the Snoqualmie corridor area, where increased visitation has resulted in a degradation of the land.

How You Can Help:

Here are simple steps everyone can take while recreating on Snoqualmie ancestral lands to practice respect and help the Tribe in protecting and restoring these lands for generations to come:

- Treat the lands with the respect they deserve, by picking up your own trash, and that of others that you see, properly disposing of pet waste, and staying on designated trails.
- Commit to experience the lands in a way that is centered in mindfulness, rather than conquest.
- Learn more about the Snoqualmie Tribe and its history and deep connection to these lands, and support the work the Tribe does today to continue stewarding these lands.
- Acknowledge that you are recreating on Snoqualmie ancestral lands through both written acknowledgement and through practice.
- Help the Tribe spread its message by encouraging others to learn more and practice land acknowledgement both on and off the trails.
